CONTENTS

- 36 Cards (3 each of values 1-12)
- 1 Manual (Japanese / English)

OVERVIEW

The goal of the game is to “reveal 3 cards of the same value”.

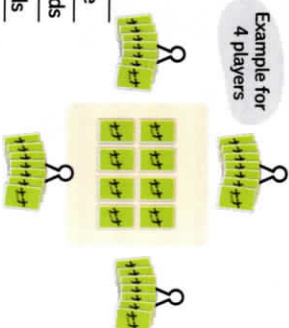

When it's your turn, attempt to reveal 3 cards of the same value and succeed the challenge! If you reveal any card whose value differs from the first one, the challenge is failed. Players can only reveal the cards with “the biggest” or “the smallest” value. Following these rules, the first player who succeeds 3 challenges wins the game.

SETUP

- 1 Prepare the cards according to the number of players, shuffle and deal them to each player and to the center of the table as follows:

Number of Players	2	3	4	5
Value of unused cards	1112	12	None	None
Number of cards	30 cards	33 cards	36 cards	36 cards
Player Hand	10 cards	8 cards	7 cards	6 cards
Shared Area*	10 cards	9 cards	8 cards	6 cards

* The players may be required to remember the positions of the cards. It is recommended to arrange them neatly, as shown in the illustration.

2

After you receive the cards in your hand, rearrange them in an ascending order.
→ In this game, you can only reveal the cards from the ends of your hand. Please make sure to rearrange the cards in this order.

3

The person who has had lucky things happened to them recently goes first. If there are several of you, decide who will start in any appropriate way.

HOW TO PLAY

In this game, players take turns in a clockwise order.

On your turn, attempt the “challenge to reveal 3 cards of the same value” by taking one of these 2 actions:

“Reveal a card in a hand” or “Reveal a card in the shared area.”

Reveal a card in a hand

Please show us your biggest card.

Here it is.

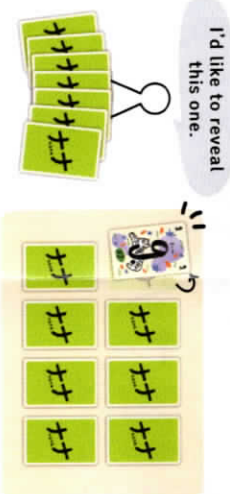

This is my smallest card.

Choose one player to reveal “the biggest” or “the smallest” card on that player's hand. Place the revealed card in front of its owner temporarily. (If there are multiple cards of the same number, only one card is revealed.) You can also choose to reveal a card in your hand. Note that you can only reveal “the biggest” or “the smallest” card in your hand.

Reveal a card in the shared area

Choose a card in the shared area and flip it face-up. You can choose any card you like regardless of if they are "the biggest" or "the smallest".

Continue to "Reveal a card" until you "Succeed the challenge" or "Fail the challenge".

If you reveal any card whose value differs from the first one, you immediately "Fail the challenge".

When a challenge is failed, return all revealed cards to their owners' hands and flip all revealed cards in the shared area face-down.

If you manage to reveal 3 cards of the same value, you "Succeed the challenge".

Collect the 3 revealed cards into 1 set and place them in front of you.

After you succeed or fail a challenge, the next player takes turn.

ENDING THE GAME

When a player achieves any of the following, that player wins and the game is over.

★ Succeeds the challenges 3 times.

★ Succeeds the challenges twice and the value of the 2 sets of cards can be added or subtracted to "7".

Each card shows the value that can add or subtract the value of that card to 7.

★ Succeeds the challenge with "7".

FAQ

- ★ Can I choose the same person to reveal a card in succession?
 Yes, you can. The same applies to when you reveal your cards as well.
- ★ I have three cards of the same value in my hand. Is it alright to score them?
 Yes, you can if they are the biggest or the smallest value in your hand. You're quite lucky!
- ★ It feels kind of weird to play with a hand that has all three cards from the start.
 If you feel that way, you are allowed to re-deal the cards. However, if you still have three of a kind after that, let's just play the game.
